

DOCUMENT SUMMARY

Document: training_rules.pdf

Generated: 09 July 2026 16:02

Executive Summary

The Oil and Natural Gas Corporation (ONGC) offers a training program for students from recognized universities, deemed universities, or institutions. The program is designed to provide hands-on experience and skills development in various fields. There are three types of training programs offered: Summer/Winter Training and MCA Training.

Key Topics

- * Eligibility criteria
- * Duration of the training programs
- * Stipend and assistance provided during the training
- * Application process and deadlines
- * Selection criteria for the training program

Important Policies

- * First preference given to immediate wards of ONGC employees serving/retired
- * No preference given to relatives and friends
- * Limited number of students accepted per ONGC for Summer/Winter Training

Important Numbers

- * February 15th and October 1st: Application dates
- * April 15th, October 31st, or November 30th (depending on the training season): Last date for application receipt
- * May-June (summer) or November-January (winter): Training commences
- * July-December (summer) or February-August (winter): Training ends

Conclusion

The ONGC training program provides students with a unique opportunity to gain practical experience and skills in various fields. With its eligibility criteria, duration of the training programs, stipend and assistance, application process, and selection criteria, this program is an excellent way for students to enhance their career prospects.

Generated by Enterprise Multi-Domain Chatbot